20 Things to do in Ayutthaya

Route 1: One-day leisurely trip

After a short drive from Bangkok in the morning, we will get to Ayutthaya. In our view, the necessary prerequisite for exploring this province is the Ayutthaya Tourism Centre located in the former provincial hall. The visit to the Historical Hall of Phra Nakhon Si Ayutthaya will present a general overview on what to see in Ayutthaya. The first recommended stop should be made at the Wihan of Wat Mongkhon Bophit and Wat Phra Si Sanphet which was equal to the Temple of the Emerald Buddha in Bangkok. Next, it is a good idea to see the monument of King U-thong, the founder of Ayutthaya city. Around noon, let us have lunch and taste a diverse array of local specialities ; such as, noodle soup in front of the TOT Company. After this lovely meal, it is well worth driving further to pay homage to Buddha images and discover the splendours of mural paintings at Wat Na Phra Men. Those who have never seen the windowless Maha Ut chapel should visit Wat Tuek. Along the way, you may stop over to appreciate the local wisdom ; such as, weaving the mobile in the form of fish and creating Khon masks. On our way back, do not forget to buy Roti, unleavened bread made in sheets eaten with Sai Mai or candyfloss, at a row of shops in front of the Phra Nakhon Si Ayutthaya Hospital. At the end of our fun day, let us get on the long-tail boat at the pier in front of Chandra Kasem Palace to enjoy the scenery around the islet and shop for dinner at the all-night market. After having a good time for this day trip, we return home.

Route 2 : A chic-chic boutique hotel a few nights

On the first day, we arrive at Phra Nakhon Si Ayutthaya in the morning and rent a Tuk Tuk for a round trip in the city. We start our trip at Wat Senatsanaram to pay respect to the reclining Buddha and then visit Chao Samphraya Museum which exhibits the ancient beautiful golden treasure. Next, after leaving the Museum, we go to the Ayothaya Floating Market where you can enjoy your delicious lunch together with the showing inside market. In the late afternoon, we go to Wat Choeng Ta to worship King Taksin the Great and see the ancient beautiful murals at the pavilion near the river. After that, cross the Chao Phraya River to Wat Phutthaisawan to see the beautiful Buddhist sanctuary, pay respect to the reclining Buddha image and the famous venerable monk named "Huan". At four o'clock, we go back to pay respect to the reclining Buddha at Wat Thammikkarat and also visit the old Buddha image inside Wihan Phra Mongkhon Bophit after worshipping the famous King U-thong. Then, at six o'clock, enjoy a remarkable dinner, served with variety menus like "Big Shrimp" and the great river scenery at a beautiful restaurant. At night, rest at the nice boutique hotel near the river, preparing for the next fun day.

Start the early morning with offering food to monks, and then take a walking trip, visiting the local people through their daily life at Hua Ro Market. After enjoying shopping, we next go to Wat Lokkaya Suthar, Wat Yai Chai Mogkhon and Wat Phanan Choeng respectively to pay respect to the famous Buddha image. In the late morning, on the way while we are going to Bang Pa-in, stop at the Kong Khong Market for shopping and having lunch. After that, we go to Bang Pa-in palace where you can enjoy taking lots of pictures of the ancient beautiful architecture, and then take the cable car across to Wat Niwet Thamma Prawat. Finally, at the Royal Folk Arts and Crafts Centre at Bang Sai, you will see many things from the local villager's ideas and also shop for local souvenirs before returning home.

Finally, at the Royal Folk Arts and Crafts Centre at Bang Sai, you will see many things from the local villager's ideas and also shop for local souvenirs before returning home.

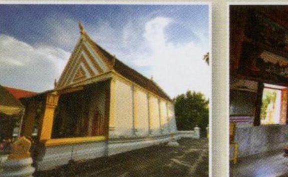

Route 3 : Ayutthaya enjoy three full days

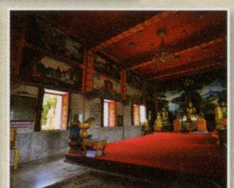

On the first day morning when we arrive at Phra Nakhon Si Ayutthaya, visit the Phra Nakhon Si Ayutthaya Historical Centre before taking the tram to ook around the Phra Nakhon Si Ayutthaya Historical Park. You may visit Wang Chang Ayutthaya to see the show of clever elephants. At noon, we have lunch at Hua Ro Market where you can enjoy a lot of ancient foods ; such as, noodle, Thai tofu, Thai pancake or Thai coffee. After full of food, in the afternoon, we go to pay respect to the reclining Buddha image at Wat Senatsanaram, and then visit the Chandra Kasem National Museum to learn some interesting history of Ayutthaya. Next, we drive under the Pridi Thamrong Bridge to Wat Suwan Dararam to see the ancient beautiful murals inside both ordination and image halls. We finish today's trip with dinner at the Ayutthaya Grand Night Market and rest at a beautiful boutique resort.

The second day, we start at the Million Toys Museum where you can return back to your childhood, and then visit the local villagers who do "Khon" mask and fishshaped ornaments made of palm leaf. Alternatively, you may drive out of the city to worship the statue of King Naresuan the Great at Thung Phukhao Thong, and then go to pay respect to the Buddha image at Wat Tha Ka Rong ; also take a walking trip along Krung Kao the Floating Market at Wat Tha Ka Rong and have lunch at the floating restaurant together with feeding thousands of fish there. In the afternoon, we go to Wat Kasattrathirat to pay respect to the Buddha image and see the beautiful murals which are different from the others. Then, visit Bot Maha-Ut and pay respect to the reclining Buddha image at Wat Phutthaisawan before going to the Portuguese Village. In the late afternoon, when the sun nearly sets, take a tricycle or Tuk Tuk sightseeing around the city, and lastly enjoy your wonderful dinner near the Chao Phraya River before taking a rest at a homestay with a warm atmosphere.

Welcome the last days morning with offering food to monks, also enjoy local food for breakfast, and take a walking trip around the village to learn their local daily life. We next go to the OTOP village, Bang Pa-in, and then shopping at Bang Sai Royal Folk Arts and Crafts Centre for local souvenirs before having lunch at the Kong Khong Market, enjoying the variety of fresh food. In the afternoon, visit the Bang Pa-in Palace where you will see the remarkable architecture, getting the feeling of the ancient atmosphere. We finally go across to the other side to visit Wat Niwet Thamma Prawat which is decorated with a variety of colourful stained glass in the Gothic style. Take time here for a while and return home in the late evening.

1 Praise the "Maha Ut Chapel"

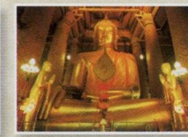

It has been believed that a visit to a windowless chapel with a single entrance or "Bot Maha Ut" protects us against lethal weapons and magic spells, enabling us to avert danger, and making us invulnerable. At present, such a chapel is becoming increasingly scarce because the chapel walls have been bored to make space for windows and doors in several temples. This "Maha Ut Chapel" can be seen at Wat Phutthaisawan, Wat Tuek, Wat Chang Yai Wat Hantra and Wat Samanakotharam.

2 Worship the Buddha images and contemplate the murals

In addition to the elegant posture of the principal Buddha image in the chapel, the exquisiteness of the murals in the temples reflects the abiding faith in Buddhism. Wat Suwan Dararam, Wat Pradu Song Tham, Wat Phanan Choeng, Wat Na Phra Men, Wat Kasattrathirat, and Wat Choeng Tha are all adorned with valuable murals that await your visit.

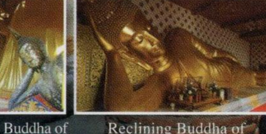

3 Worship the reclining Buddha image

There are plenty of reclining Buddha images in Phra Nakhon Si Ayutthaya. While paying homage to them, we are inclined to be captivated by their sheer beauty and tremendous charm. In Phra Nakhon Si Ayutthaya District, there are Wat Yai Chai Mongkhon, Wat Lokkaya Sutharam, Wat Sam Wihan, Wat Phutthaisawan, Wat Thammikkarat, Wat Senatsanaram, and Wat Phanomyong. Elsewhere, there are Wat Satue and Wat Mai Ruak in Tha Ruea District. In Bang Ban District, there is Wat Phikun. In Maha Rat District, there is Wat Suwannachedi. As for Sena District, there is Wat Bang Pla Mo.

4 Worship the royal monuments

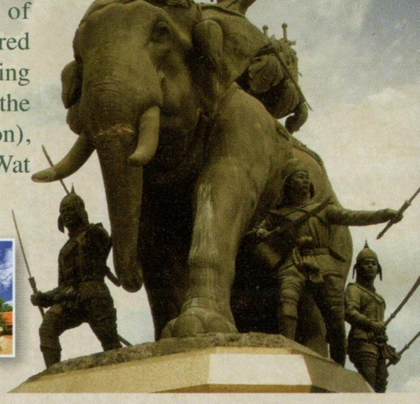

These monuments were erected in commemoration of the resourcefulness and virtues of each monarch who restored the sovereignty to the nation. Visit the royal monuments of King U-thong, Queen Suriyothai and The Archive, King Naresuan the Great (at Thung Phukhao Thong and Wat Yai Chai Mongkhon), and King Taksin the Great at Wat Phichai Songkhram and Wat Phran Nok in Uthai District.

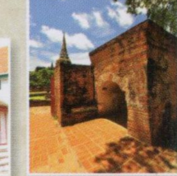

5 Discover the sumptuous palaces and the architectural masterpieces

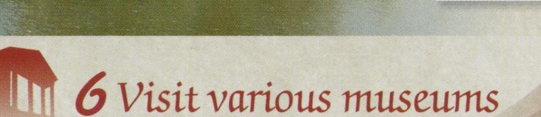

Such monuments reflect the prodigious talent and craftsmanship of the Ayutthaya Period. Visit Bang Pa-in Palace, Ancient Palace or Grand Palace, and Chandra Kasem Palace.

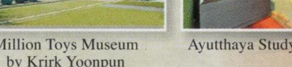

6 Visit various museums

Get to know the glorious past of the Ayutthaya Kingdom and learn the history through your visit to its several museums; such as, Chao Sam Phraya National Museum, Chandra Kasem National Museum, Ayutthaya Study Institute, Ayutthaya Historical Study Centre, Local Museum in Ban Phraek District, Thai Boat Museum, Arunyik Craft Museum, and Million Toys Museum by Krirk Yoonpun and visit Arunyik Craft Museum.
